

A Naturalist on a Tropical Farm, Alexander Skutch.
"Ornithologist and naturalist Skutch has written a delightful account of life on his homestead in Costa Rica. The numerous illustrated vignettes of incidents, people, plants, and animals are distilled from nearly 40 years' experience at his farm, Los Cusingos. Skutch perceptively draws attention to the adaptiveness of human and animal behavior, and to processes that take place during the year and changes that have taken place over many years. His introspective excursions into domestication, predation, symbiosis, man's place in nature, and other aspects of natural philosophy are refreshing. The book will appeal to all who enjoy the natural world."
-Library Journal. 1980. UC Press, Berkeley. CA 94720. 405 pages. $16.95.

DEC 20 1980